Box No. V	Reasoned statement under Article 35(2) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement
1.	Statement
	Novelty (N)	Claims 4-9, 12-13	YES
		Claims 1-3, 10, 11	NO
	Inventive step (IS)	Claims 5, 6, 12, 13	YES
		Claims 1-4, 7-10, 11	NO
	Industrial applicability (IA)	Claims 1-13	YES
		Claims	NO
2.	Citations and explanations (Rule 70.7)
1	This report makes reference to the following documents: D1: US-A-5 095 525 (ALMGREN ET AL) 10 March 1992 (1992-03-10) D2: EP-A-1 022 659 (PHILIPS INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY & STANDARDS GMBH; KONINKLIJKE PHILIPS EL) 26 July 2000 (2000-07-26)
2	INDEPENDENT CLAIMS 1 AND 11
2.1	The present application fails to meet the requirements of PCT Article 33(1) because the subject matter of claim 1 is not novel within the meaning of PCT Article 33(2). D2 (the references in parentheses are to D2) discloses: a method of storing data in a random access memory, in which method - prior to storing, each data item is encrypted in that, on the basis of every data item ..., a permuted data item having a predefined number of data bits is generated by one-to-one permutation

Box No. V	Reasoned statement under Article 35(2) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement
	of the individual data bits using a first permutation key (paragraphs 0016 and 0017), wherein <ul style="list-style-type: none">- the first permutation key is generated from a binary random sequence (paragraph 0020, a clocked feedback shift register is a (pseudo) random sequence generator). 2.2 The present application fails to meet the requirements of PCT Article 33(1) because the subject matter of claim 1 does not involve an inventive step within the meaning of PCT Article 33(3) in relation to D1. D1 (the references in parentheses are to D1) discloses: a method of storing data in a random access memory, in which method <ul style="list-style-type: none">- prior to storage, each data item is encrypted in that, on the basis of every data item ..., a permuted data item having a predefined number of data bits is generated by one-to-one permutation of the individual data bits using a first permutation key (column 6, lines 28-41). Thus the subject matter of claim 1 differs from this known method in that the first permutation key is generated from a binary random sequence. However, it is commonplace in the field to automatically generate keys from random numbers. A person skilled in the art would incorporate such a feature into the method of D1 and in this manner

	arrive at a method according to claim 1, without thereby being inventive.
2.3	The features of independent device claim 11 correspond substantially to those of method claim 1, and the aforementioned objection therefore also applies to claim 11.
3	DEPENDENT CLAIMS Dependent claims 2 to 4 and 7 to 10 do not contain any additional features which, in combination with the features of any claim to which they refer, meet the requirements for novelty and inventive step because these features are either known from D1 or D2 or are commonplace.
